SPEAKER CANNON IN TOWN.

Looking After Contracts for New Building for Representatives.

Speaker Cannon is in Washington today, looking after some of the contracts in connection with the new building for the House of Representatives. He is chairman of the commission having charge of the construction. The other members are Col. Hepburn, who is now in Honolulu, and Representative Richardson, of Tennessee, who sailed yesterday from New York for Europe.

Speaker Cannon came to Washington from New York, where he was in Chicago for a short conference with Mr. Richardson before the latter sailed. While in Washington "Uncle Joe" will pass upon several of the sub-contracts for the building. Last night he stated that work upon the structure was progressing in a highly satisfactory manner. He said, in his joking way, that the contractors gave him more trouble than the minority of the House. He said every one of them thought his case was the best, if not the lowest, and could give more reasons why it should be accepted than any member of the House could give for revising the tariff.

Speaker Cannon will have a conference today with the commandant of the Capitol, the architect of the building, the chief contractor, and others, and will try to settle upon several important matters. The details of the contracts may detain him for two or three days in Washington.

The funeral will be from the home of Charles Welch, 628 I street northeast, a brother of the deceased.

Lectures Before Engineers.
"The work of the Magnetic Survey Yacht Galilee" was the subject of a lecture by Dr. L. A. Bauer before the Washington Society of Engineers in Hubbard Memorial Hall last night. The several cruises of the Galilee in the Pacific and the construction of charts of hitherto comparatively unknown waters were described by Dr. Bauer. The lecture was illustrated with lantern slides, and at its conclusion Dr. Bauer exhibited a number of compasses and other instruments used by the crew of the Galilee in its work of survey.

BOOTY SAID TO BE $350,000

Standard Title and Trust Company of Philadelphia Said to Have Misrepresented—Bank Clerk Quits Place, Buys Shares, Is Out of Employment—One Mortgagee Home.

Philadelphia, May 21.—On charge of fraudulent representation, the Standard Title and Trust Company, at 713 Chestnut street, was closed to-day by A. L. Taber, representative of the commissioner of banking. At the same time, alleging that the company had fraudulently represented to have assets of $500,000 and a surplus of $100,000, attorneys for stockholders applied for a receiver. Ship, and Israel Hecht and Carroll R. Wilson were appointed by the court. It was alleged by the attorneys that the assets of the company do not amount to $50,000.

There will be criminal prosecutions if United States District Attorney Thompson advises it.

All the officers of the concern live in other cities. Homer L. Castle, late prohibition candidate for governor, is one of the directors and its counsel.

The scheme was to issue 20,000 shares of stock with a par value of $5 a share. These shares were to be sold at $5 a share, thus raising the possible funds of the company to $1,000,000. According to the attorneys in the case, most of the stock was sold through the fiscal agent in New York, who is alleged to have loaded prospective buyers with literature containing golden promises. Other stock was sold to persons seeking employment with the concern, it being made a condition of getting a position that the applicant should bear the names of Ford Hunter, Aspinwall, and Massinger.

So far as the attorney can learn, from $50,000 to $100,000 of the stock was sold in Philadelphia or vicinity, and perhaps $50,000 was sold in New York. Two stockholders, one a cashier of a Bluefield (W. Va.) national bank, gave up a lucrative position and subscribed for $5,000 of stock in the Standard. He was notified to come on. He is here, out of work. Another, a clerk in a Camden trust company, mortgaged his home to buy stock, conditioned on his securing a valuable position.

S. K. Ford, Chicago, is president; H. Cohen, New York, first vice president; P. S. Aspinwall, Freeport, Ill., treasurer.

DEATH OF ALFRED C. TEVIS.

Consular Agent at Lucerne Yields to Heart Disease.

Lucerne, May 21.—Gloom has been cast over Lucerne and the American consular service in Switzerland by the death of Alfred C. Tevis, of Philadelphia, American consular agent at Aarau.

Heart failure was the immediate cause of Mr. Tevis' death, than whom there was no more popular American hereabouts. He had become identified with the life of this place, especially in summer, when so many of his countrymen, friends, and acquaintances made National or Schweizerhof their halting place. The American flag flies at half-mast at the American Consulate. The funeral was held yesterday.

Alfred C. Tevis was born in Philadelphia January 27, 1872, and was educated at the Penn Charter School and Haverford College. He was appointed vice and deputy consul at Sheffield, England, May 18, 1901, and resigned in June, 1902. He was appointed consular agent at Carrara, Italy, November 17, 1903.
